

Summer Reading for Rising First Grade Students

As rising first graders it is very important to keep our minds sharp during summer vacation. Please have your child read (or read to them) at least 15 minutes everyday. Students are not expected to be reading when they enter in the fall, however, the more experience they have with written language the better the reader they will become!

Have a great summer!